No SETTEMBER SESSION.

It is generally believed on all hands that Congress will not be called together in September. A variety of causes have conspired to bring about this result, one of which, and probably as potent as any, is that the old-line radicals are beginning to fear that the carpet-baggers will outstrip them in radicalism and bear off their laurels. I then started back to Waynesboro, and upon my arrival submitted the proposition to the Sheriff and citizens, who at once agreed to it, when it was duly signed and witnessed, each of the contracting parties taking a copy of it. The Sheriff ther proceeded to disband his posse, and in half an hour there was not an armed man in the streets of Waynesboro, and all parties seemed satisfied, although neither party has the slightest faith in the honor or honesty of the other.

The tadicals claim that the rebels will break the terms of the contract at the first convenient opportunity, while the rebels appear equally certain that it will be first broken by the radicals. Both parties awear, that, in case the agreement is broken by the other, the agreessing party will be annihilated or driven from the country. It is almost impossible for me to express an opinion as to which party is responsible for the row and bloodshed at Waynesboro. The Kuklux violated the law in the matter of proceeding in mask and interfering with the rights of citizens to bear arms, while the radicals or Union men were too hasty in firing upon the party before proper exertions were used!

HIS SPEECH AT BANGOR.

The Very Best that Radicalism Has to Say for Itself.

> Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, devered a lengthy speech at Bangor, Me, lay before yesterday, on the political day before yesterday, on the political issues of the day. After a long review of the history of the two parties, he said:
> In 1804, when Grant was holding Lee in his grasp in the rebel capital, and Shermau was fighting his bloody wny to Atlanta, when patriot hearts were cheered by the hope of soon subjugating the rebellion, the Democratic party masembled at Chicago. Horatio Seymour presided. The convention, inspired by slavery, and in sympathy with their rebel Democratic friends in rebellion, resolved that "the war is a failure," and demanded "the cessation of hostilities." The Republican party met in convention, declared for the complete aholition of slavery, the subjugation of the rebellion, and the re-election of Abraham Lincoln. These two parties, numbering more than four millions of voters, went to the ballot-box The Republicans invoked the patriotism, the love of liberty, and the self sacrificing spirit of the country. The Democrats appealed to cowardly tener, selfish instincts, and unrecasoning passions and projudices. The Democracy, hoastful as is its wont, received 21 ont of 234 electoral votes, and was beaten by a popular majority of more than 100,000 votes. The spirit of the rebellion was thus broken. The hopes of ues of the day. After a long review of

In November there is to be another struggle between these two parties for the control of the Lational administration. The Republican party met at Chicago, readirmed its policy of reconstruction, pronounced against all forms of repudiation, for the reduction and equalization of taxistion, for the equal protection of American citizens, for the recognized obligations to our soldiers and to the widows and orphans of the gallant dead, and for the removal of restrictions imposed upon rebels as rapidly as the safety of the loyal people will admit. The convention then presented the name of General Grant, the great Captain, who has so often marshaled our armies to victory; and Schuyler Colour armies to victory; and Schuyler Col-fax, a statesman of pure life, stainless honor, and commanding influence.

ANUNFAIR STATEMENT.

The Democratic party assembled in National Convention in New York. Horatio Seymour again presided. That selection of its presiding officer was a monitiou to the country that this convention would be no more patriotic or wise then was the Hemocratic convention of 1861. There assembled the self-same leaders, or their comperers, that pronounced, in 1861, the war, to proserve the nation's life, "a failure," and demanded a "cessation of hostilities," which would have made inevitable a dismemberment of the republic, and the death of the nation. To that convention came also a few disappointed, sour, and fallen spiris, who once were ensisted with the legions of liberty, but who were never imbued with the generous and enuobling impulses of human equality. There came, too, the exponents and representatives of the "lost cause." These representatives were not the men whose eyes had been opened in the storm of civil war to see the error of seccession, and who had repented of the treason

The latest trick resorted to by these individuals is that of representing themselves as policemen, in which capacity, at night, they stop negroes and others and relieve them of whatever valuables they happen to have about them, in consideration of which they gradiously concide to let them go. ill departments our tradesmen have im rted large and complete stocks of goods, and everything denotes a return of vitality to the many intereste that con-titute our material power as one of the creat marketa of the Southwest. That there is good reason for these canifestations no donit can be enter-ained by well informed minds. Both the political and natural events of the ecent past have tended so far to solve the problem of commerce and trads that is is no longer difficult to understand no npleasant to contempiate. The produ ing regions of the South and West have risen, Phonix-like, from the ashea, and again teem with iuxnriant crops of every ndiginous kind, while the consuming classes have been correspondingly for tnuste in seenring pecuniary ease. Thus it is manifest that the handmaide of commercial prosperity—demand and sup ply—are beginning to regulate them selves npon a permanent basia, assnring that practical restoration of business character and power without which we can achieve nothing as individuals or as age of reason" is coming back. All classes with us are connected with com-merce, and are in some way interested in its welfars. We adopt a familiar illus-tration. There is gloom over society when the ship stops too long at the wharf, and the prices current manifest depres-sion. Anxiety is not confined to faces on 'Change. There are baggard looke smong laboringmen wanting work, and the stillness in the shop of the mechanic denotes the state of trade. The merchant moves briskly, and looks as though chencery had slways and looks as though chemicary had always been a mythical conception. The hard-featured bank amiles grimly as it loosens its stringent gripe, and the original phrase of "tightness in the money mar-ket" is dropped for a season. As much censure has been attached to the officers of the company, having grown out of the report that they were voting themselves extravagant salaries to plunder us, we directed particular examination to their respective secounts, and found that the two officers upon whom seem to devolve the direction and responsibility of the whole husiness, namely, Mr. D. Mr. Bly, as vice-president, treasurer, and director receiving three thousand dollars (8,000), and Colonel Mundy as actuary, attorney, and director, receiving two thousand drop hundred dollars (8,500) per annum. JOHN W. ARNOLD.

In relation to the controversy between Mr. J. W. Arnold and the officers of the company we give facts without opinion.
It is well known to the community that the officers of the company had Mr. Arnold arrested for embezzlement, and he westried and acquitted in the Police Court, after which he published circulars and had them distributed to the public, denouncing them in general as dishonest,
&c., and from this canse alone could there be any grounds of suspicion of the insoled Secretary in Striy, sour, Institute and not increased, nor was ble salary changed. The hy-laws fix the duties of the Secretary to keep the booke, make out popicies, and receive moneys paid at the office and turn them over to the Treasurer. We find in the ledger kept by Mr. Arnol that he had charged himself with five thousand two hundred and fifty dollar and elighty cents ($5,250 80), whice she untoverdraws his malary two thorsaid four hundred and fifty dollars an elighty cents ($2,150 80). We also find his exceeded of the anit No. 4,287 in the Court of Common Pless, entitled J. V Arrold ve. the Hope Insurance Computy, an account sworn to by Mr. Arnol in which he acknowledges having received, in addition to the five thousand to this live-forever eleant that he once hap-house and this vicinity, writed to dine. He lined on principle, tell-not the house that he had defor forty years. This deforms for forty years. which they are seeking to recover from him.

The troubles of our company dats from the arrest of Mr. Arnold, and as much cdum has since been heaped upon our cfilters, we feel called upon, after a full investigation of the facts, to justify them in the course they have pursued for our interest and that of the company; and, as many misled policy-holders and menibers joined in the hus and cry against them, we deem this vindication but a simple act of instice. Our best policy in this matter will be to await the decision of the legal tribunal which now has the matter in hands.
